OLD WORLD TIMBER

Lexington Kentucky

Old World Timber is the leading supplier of authentic repurposed Kentucky Racehorse Oak and other premium reclaimed & sustainably sourced wood products—delivered at scale to those in the industry like builders, designers & architects.

SINCE 2007

RECLAIMING HORSE HISTORY

Old World Timber's Racehorse Oak is milled from reclaimed oak horse paddock fencing sourced from farms throughout central Kentucky also known as "The Racehorse Capital of the World."

Defined by authentic character and a refined finish, this collection transforms reclaimed paddock fencing into distinctive timber flooring. Exposure to weather, time and the everyday presence of horses has given the wood a unique surface and patina. These natural imperfections are preserved as part of its character, ensuring every floor has an identity and history entirely its own.

HEARTLAND BARNWOOD

RECLAIMING AMERICA'S HISTORY

Old World Timber's Heartland Barnwood products are reclaimed from the siding and timbers of barns and other antique structures throughout the United States. Instead of this wood going into burn piles and crowding up landfills, we give these boards new life by repurposing them into products such as flooring & wall paneling.

Our weathered barnwood comes from decades old thoroughbred horse farms, old tobacco barns, distilleries, mills, factories and rural structures across our North American heartland. The grain designs, saw marks, and character marks are waiting to add to the story of your home, office, restaurant, or any other creative space you're dreaming up.

RESTORATION OAK COLLECTION

We take pride in producing flooring that reflects exceptional craftsmanship, enduring performance, and timeless design. Our Restoration Collection of engineered hardwood flooring is sustainably sourced (not reclaimed) and thoughtfully crafted to meet the highest standards while preserving the authentic character and beauty of real wood. The entire collection comes from premium Northern Oak.

Built with precision, this flooring features a balanced 3-ply construction with a proprietary two-directional core, delivering outstanding stability while minimizing expansion and contraction caused by changes in temperature and humidity.
Each plank is topped with premium American oak, carefully selected for its distinctive grain, natural character, and lasting durability.

Available in a curated palette of finishes and colors, our Restoration Collection is designed for both residential and commercial applications, offering a refined foundation for contemporary and traditional spaces alike. Whether specifying materials for a custom residence, hospitality project, or commercial development, our engineered hardwood delivers the perfect balance of performance, authenticity, and design.

THE EVOLUTION OF HARDWOOD FLOORING

Old World Timber’s Emberline Collection is crafted through a thermal modification process that transforms premium hardwood into a flooring product with enhanced durability, stability, and rich character. This Emberline Collection of engineered hardwood flooring is sustainably sourced (not reclaimed). By using heat and steam instead of harsh chemicals, the wood develops deeper tones, improved resistance to moisture, and a naturally refined appearance built to stand the test of time.

Inspired by the warmth and depth of naturally aged wood, Emberline flooring showcases bold grain patterns, rich textures, and distinctive character in every plank. Designed for both residential and commercial spaces, the collection brings a timeless yet modern feel to homes, offices, restaurants, and any environment where lasting beauty and performance matter.

MODERN HARVEST ENGINEERED FLOORING

Our Modern Harvest Oak Flooring is our top choice in the line of sustainably sourced and traditionally milled engineered flooring, thanks to its classic, modern look. It's perfect for homes, designers, and builders who want something elegant and long-lasting, with just a touch of character marks. Although this flooring is not officially reclaimed, it is sustainably sourced and still has similarities to salvaged wood with all the eco-friendly benefits.

Responsible. Local. Reliable.
We work hard to ensure every board we reclaim, every finish we apply, and every client we serve contributes to a long-lasting impact rooted in integrity. From historic barns to modern homes, our mission is simple:
Reclaim. Redeem. Repurpose.

OLD WORLD TIMBER

WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT?
WE DESIGN IT.
WE SOURCE IT.
WE MANUFACTURE IT.
SO YOU CAN GET IT HASSLE FREE.

Feeling overwhelmed by the process of choosing reclaimed wood products? We have simplified the entire procedure for you. Let us help you remove all the hassles and delays and deliver to you the top quality you are looking for in antique planks.

RECLAIM

We have a huge global network of suppliers who specialize in the deconstruction of old barns and structures. Our suppliers diligently remove siding, timbers, and other usable materials and deliver them to our manufacturing facility in Lexington, KY (the horse capital of the world) to be redeemed and repurposed. Beyond the material we work with, we partner with our network of organizations and ministries to connect with men and women coming out of difficult backgrounds and circumstances who need a second chance. Essentially we make second chance wood by second chance people.

REDEEM

Our skilled craftsmen spend countless hours washing, metal detecting, milling, puttying, sanding, and finishing our products to bring them back to life. In the same way, every day we are working to break the stereotypes of incarceration and addiction
We remember that we are all broken and in need of a community that believes in who we are and who we can become

REPURPOSE

We love seeing the repurposed designs created from our antique wood that transform homes, offices, and the spaces people live and work in, lining interiors with warmth as well as the story behind the material they're laid with. Even more so, we are inspired to see our coworkers find redemption and purpose in their work and lives. We desire to be a small but important part in reshaping how society thinks about incarceration, addiction, the environment, employment, stereotypes, interior design, and the value of work. one stick of wood at a time.
